

Holt International Children's Services
THAILAND FAMILY TOUR 2011
CODE OF CONDUCT

Introduction

While traveling overseas Holt Thailand Family Tour participants represent Holt International, adoptive families and adoptees everywhere. In many ways the success of international adoption will be judged by your conduct.

On the tour we will be guests in our hosts' country, and it is important to behave with respect, patience and kindness in all situations. We ask that you—as an ambassador of international adoption—abide by the guidelines below.

If a Family Tour participant refuses to follow these guidelines, tour leaders may terminate his or her participation in the tour. If a tour member is asked to leave, Holt will not refund any of the tour's cost.

Guidelines for Holt Thailand Family Tour participants

While on Holt's Thailand Family Tour, I agree:

- to obey the laws of the host country and to respect the traditions of the local culture;
- to dress respecting the values of the local culture as recommended by Holt tour leaders;
- not to engage in political or religious activities that advocate a specific agenda;
- that if I consume alcoholic beverages, I will do so in moderation;
- that I will not use any illegal substance, and controlled substances will be limited to doctor-prescribed medicine.
